

The Sustainable Development Goals Fund of the Episcopal Diocese of New York

In 2015, the General Assembly of the United Nations adopted 17 Sustainable Development Goals, seeking to end poverty, to protect and care for the planet and to fight injustice and inequality. In anticipation of the announcement of the Sustainable Development Goals, the General Convention of the Episcopal Church voted to continue its budgetary commitment of 0.7% annually toward international development programs, and it encouraged dioceses and congregations to do the same.

With this in mind, the Episcopal Diocese of New York established the Sustainable Development Goals Fund (SDGF) with seed money from the 2016 diocesan budget and the Global Mission Commission. The SDGF will serve as a financial and networking resource for diocesan entities to work with partners outside of the diocese to further sustainable growth and development. All congregations, schools and mission networks of the diocese are welcome to apply for this funding. We believe that seeking to attain these goals is a concrete way to live out our baptismal promises (Book of Common Prayer, pp.304-5). The SDG goals will guide us as we strive for justice and peace among all people, respecting the dignity of every human being and caring for God's creation.

If you have questions regarding this application or funding a project or ministry, please contact sustainabilitygrants@dioceseny.org.

Eligibility

The Sustainable Development Goals Fund (SDGF) aims to provide support for one-year mission projects between congregations, schools and mission networks within the Episcopal Diocese of New York (EDNY) and global entities outside of the EDNY. The EDNY partner applies for funding to support the project to be conducted with the global partner. Projects for which applications are made must be approved by the EDNY parish vestry or governing board, as well as the equivalent leadership of the global partner, before submission for consideration.

Grants will be awarded for projects that directly address one or more of the SDGs. Effectiveness, accountability and sustainability (addressing one or more SDGs, as well as financial sustainability) will be essential criteria which applicants must identify, define and measure. The global partner should be in communion with the Episcopal/Anglican church, and the EDNY partner must be in good standing within the church. Awards will be made out to the EDNY partner.

Selection criteria for review of applications

1. The project for which the funds are requested must be a specific one. If the funds are to be used as part of a larger project, the exact function and timing of the smaller project must be stated. In the latter cases, the applicant must be able to answer the question: if you only receive funds from the SDG fund, what will you be able to accomplish?
2. The submitted budget must correspond to the project described, even if the project is part of a larger one.
3. The project must create or sustain a relationship between the EDNY and global partners.
4. The project must foster financial independence in the global partner or community.

The SDG Fund will give priority to projects that foster mutual exchange and partnership between the EDNY and global partners. Priority will be given to global partners with Episcopal/Anglican affiliations. Grants may be given to an EDNY entity (parish, school or mission network) and/or a particular global project more than once but only after no fewer than three years have elapsed since receiving an award. In these cases, particular scrutiny will be placed on the progress and sustainability of the global project in the interim. Grants should not create dependency, but rather nurture self-reliance and financial independence. The hope is that projects funded by the SDG Fund will foster true companionship in mission.

Grant recipients and their global partners must aim to complete the project within the year following the awarding of the grant. In addition, grant recipients are expected to provide a brief report of program progress at six months, provide final outcome measurements at the end of the project and an accounting of how the funds were used. Grant recipients will present their year's work at the following year's Mission Fair. The SDG Fund committee will assist and advise grant recipients with their presentations, as needed.

It is hoped that grantees will bring members and friends of their parish or mission entity to celebrate the honor of the award at this year's Mission Fair as well as to share the rich stories about the project and the partnership at next year's Fair. This will inspire others to foster global partnerships and undertake worthy mission projects.

If your EDNY entity is in discernment about mission and outreach but not yet ready to form a partnership with a particular global entity, please email your questions to sustainabilitygrants@dioceseny.org. The Global Mission Commission is pleased to provide information, counsel and encouragement according to your particular needs.
